Dear Sir,

This letter is in reference to an extradition hearing I had in London England, Bow st. court, during the months of June and July - 1968.

95-700-#73
DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE
JAN 15 1970
CRIM. ADM. REGULATION

At this hearing the United States presented various documents and to the court to support its extradition request of the defendant.

Since returning to the United States the defendant in the extradition hearing has made several attempts to secure the documents that the United States Government presented to the English court at their extradition hearing as he will need this material for future court litigation.

Because defendant has been refused by both the English court and the United States Department that said material be sent to the United States Department of Justice [illegible]

This letter is not to be a legal argument in the matter - just a request but it seems improper for a Prosecutor to submit such material to a Court of Law in a Criminal case. Then withdraw such material when defendant might want to challenge such material evidence in further Court litigation.

Defendant realizes a fundamental procedure took place under the former Administration of Mr. Ramsey Clark and that what his proceeds probably is irrevocable but he would appreciate a letter for the record of present Administration position. Thanks.

Sincerely

James E. Ray
